TACORE Medical Inc. is a physician recruiting company which was founded in 2000 and has thrived entirely on word of mouth referrals. They have never, in 18 years, spent so much as a nickel on advertising, branding, or glossy tri-folds. They have always believed that if they do our job right, their clients will advertise for them. And they have.

Their approach to recruiting is largely grounded in their experiences as young college football coaches and of the insights they gained while being involved in recruiting high school athletes at the highest level. Now, they simply apply those insights, combined with the same aggressive approach, to recruiting physicians.

Indiana Rural Health Association Celebrates National Rural Health Day on November 17, 2022

The National Organization of State Offices of Rural Health (NOSORH) sets aside the third Thursday of every November to celebrate National Rural Health Day (NRHD).

NRHD is an opportunity to “Celebrate the Power of Rural” by honoring the selfless, community-minded and determined spirit that prevails in rural America. NRHD showcases the efforts of rural healthcare providers, organizations and cooperatives, State Offices of Rural Health, and stakeholders from various industry sectors dedicated to addressing Social Determinants of Health (SDOH) and the unique healthcare challenges that rural citizens face today and into the future.

What does the “Power of Rural” mean to IRHA and its members?

“What an awesome time to be a rural healthcare advocate! Indiana is on the brink of so many exciting initiatives coupled with the progress as a result of so many current initiatives! It’s such a privilege to be a part of IRHA whose team members, partners, and supporters all live and breadth the mission of enhancing the health and well-being of rural populations in Indiana through leadership, education, advocacy, collaboration, and resource development. IRHA will continue to support our Critical Access Hospital partners throughout the state with new programming to address specific needs within your communities, advocacy efforts that will positively impact the way we deliver healthcare in our rural communities, and a partnership designed to best serve and support you. You all don’t hear it enough but thank you for the dedication and care you provide to your patients every day. Our Indiana Critical Access Hospitals are a key thread in the fabric of our healthcare system.”

Cara Veale, Chief Executive Officer, Indiana Rural Health Association

“Rural health is a necessary and vital force in small communities for the services provided and the jobs created. Serving rural health is a passion collaborating with local, regional, and state partners to expand services, improve patient access and provide quality care. Rural healthcare is a cornerstone for small communities.”

Brian Herwig, President/CEO, Perry County Memorial Hospital

“If Indiana’s health care delivery system is defined as a brick wall, the bricks would be urban care; but the vital mortar is rural health care. Rural care is providing 24/7 support for the widely dispersed and mostly underfunded Indiana counties. There is nothing more accurate than neighbors helping and saving neighbors is rural healthcare.”

Greg Larkin, MD

Liz Leising, CEO, Margaret Mary Health

“The Power of Rural lies in the pathways and connections we provide to all other locations across America. Rural America feeds and heals the nation. It is where America’s pride, patriotism, and needs for improved health and healing collide. It embodies the picture of where our Nation began and continually seeks the betterment for all. It is our home for life.”

Brian Shockney, FACHE, HFA, President, IU Health South Central Region

“Having the luxury of developing meaningful inter-personal relationships with staff that translate, ultimately, into exceptional bedside care.”

Michelle Franklin, Chief Executive Officer, Sullivan County Community Hospital

“I like Wendy Mass’ quote “Be kind, for everyone you meet is fighting a battle you know nothing about.”

“Many times, providers will ask to dismiss a noncompliant patient, but they don’t always ask the patient why. So, they are missing an opportunity to let the patient explain they had to choose between medication, food, electricity, or other similar healthcare need. Patients do not always bring their troubles outside of health forward, or in many rural underserved areas, just assume it is normal for everyone. This quote reminds us that our population battles (competes) with many other costly basics in life.”

Sarah Hagen, Executive Director, Cameron Medical Group, Cameron Memorial Community Hospital

“Providing healthcare the old fashioned way: face to face and heart to heart.”

Kari Goodman, BSN, Director, Patient Care Services, Franciscan Health Rensselaer

“When the going get sick, the sick go to rural health.”

Amanda Manns, BS, Manager of Rural Health Clinics and Medical Staff

“Rural healthcare labor force: the unsung heroes of healthcare in America.”

Carlos Vasquez, FACHE, Vice President, Chief Operating Officer, Franciscan Health Rensselaer

“The impact of our Critical Access Hospital on our community is far reaching including quality healthcare close to home. National Rural Health Day allows me to acknowledge the power of rural. We are extremely blessed to have the high level of dedication and commitment in Franciscan Health Rensselaer and its rural healthcare providers!”

Judy Egan, RHIT, Manager, Mission Integration and Patient Advocate and Volunteer Services, Franciscan Health Rensselaer

“I chose to live in this rural town and community; therefore providing care at our Critical Access Hospital is not only a privilege but also a personal honor.”

Stevan A Vuckovic, DO, FACOEP, FACEP, Medical Director, Franciscan Health Rensselaer Emergency Department

“The foundation of rural power is the health of the land and its people living among the relationships that bind them.”

Brad Smith, President/CEO, Rush Memorial Hospital

Franciscan Health Rensselaer to invest $28 million to modernize and upgrade hospital facilities

RENSSELAER, Indiana | Franciscan Health Rensselaer announces it will soon begin a $28 million project to upgrade and modernize the hospital, setting the stage for the next generation of healthcare in Jasper County and surrounding communities.

The Franciscan Alliance Board of Trustees approved the investments, which will include modernizing the emergency department and accommodation for current average daily census of patient rooms to continue to enhance patient experiences.

"We're gratified that our board is investing in Rensselaer to provide the community with state-of-the-art facilities that match the outstanding care delivered by our compassionate staff," said Carlos Vasquez, vice president and chief operating officer at Franciscan Health Rensselaer.

"As a rural area we are fortunate to have convenient, local access to a hospital and specialized healthcare services. This update sets the stage for Jasper county to remain self-sufficient and continue to improve quality of life with convenient access of medical needs, employment opportunities and model healthy living in a rural environment," said Chad Pulver, Board Member of Franciscan Health Western Indiana.

Renovation work will also include the hospital's infrastructure and central plant equipment, some of which dates to the 1960s.

"A key component of the planning for this project is to make sure we continue all patient services as construction takes place," Vasquez said, noting that some locations may change to ensure patient and staff safety.

A groundbreaking for the project will be announced at a future date. Tonn and Blank Construction will oversee the renovation work.

Clinic Franciscan Health Rensselaer Partners with Local Nonprofit to Address Rural Childcare Shortage

Franciscan Health Rensselaer has partnered with Appleseed Childhood Education to address the lack of quality childcare options for families in Jasper County. To help meet the crucial community need for more childcare seats, Franciscan Health is contributing with provision and maintenance of a building on its Rensselaer hospital campus to Appleseed for the creation of a new high-quality licensed early learning center set to open January 2023.

The building, formerly known as the Administrative Building, was vacated during the pandemic. Former occupants were able to work remotely or were relocated into the Hospital's main building. Even the Administrative Team moved into a space which became available when Health Information moved to remote services. The Administrative Team agrees the move has been advantageous to bring its team closer to the action and to bring the action closer to the team. All other services that remained on-site found office space in other areas throughout the Hospital.

What to do with a beautiful empty building? A vetting process determined next best options. A desperate need for childcare was identified. A partnership was formed. The Rensselaer community needs will be addressed.

Continuous negative news seems to surround the pandemic. Yet, the pandemic also provided an opportunity. Franciscan Health Rensselaer used the advances in remote work capabilities, ingenuity, and partnering with its stakeholders to bring a positive and much needed service to the local community it serves.

Per Carlos Vasquez, Vice President and Chief Operating Officer at Franciscan Health Rensselaer,

“Early childcare is essential to our community, crucial to local workforce, and Franciscan Health Rensselaer is proud to partner with Appleseed Childhood Education to make this possible.”

Adam Alson, President of Appleseed said, “Our community is fortunate to have a partner like Franciscan Health who recognizes our collective needs and is willing to engage in projects toward solving problems.”

Brienne Hooker, Executive Director of the Jasper Newton Foundation said, “This is the kind of transformative partnership that the Jasper Newton Foundation is looking to create. Franciscan Health Rensselaer stepped up in a way that honors their mission and honors our community.”

Design work on the building at 1102 East Grace Street in Rensselaer is underway. When renovations are complete, the facility will meet state licensing requirements for providing daytime childcare five days a week for over 70 children ages six weeks old through five years old. The childcare center is on track to open in January 2023.

Rush Memorial Hospital's Bicentennial Health Fair

On October 8, Rush Memorial Hospital held the RMH Bicentennial Health Fair as part of the Rush County Bicentennial Celebration. The Health Fair took place at the Rush County Fairgrounds. The fair brought local community resources and RMH departments together in one location, so that Rush County residents could see all that the county has to offer in the way of health and human services. Free blood work and other screenings were offered to attendees. An "Ask the Doctor" area included specialists in Pain Management, ENT, Orthopedics, Vascular Surgery, General Surgery, Women's Care and Rheumatology.

Rush Memorial Hospital has recently obtained a mobile clinic through a grant from the US Department of Agriculture. The grant is designed to improve healthcare access for rural communities. The mobile clinic is expected to be operational in January 2023. For the first year of operation it will be stationed in Milroy, Indiana. The services it provides will fill a care gap left by the retirement of the local primary care physician. After the anticipated construction of a permanent RMH clinic in Milroy, the mobile clinic will begin providing service to other outlying communities.
